Critical thinking

The search for aesthetically appealing and practical forms that are simple yet well considered is the driving motivation for my work. Commitment for more information and yearning to make socio-cultural and environmental change inspires the design I create.

I aspire to bring the knowledge of history and craft to my works, balancing modern creative techniques with my respect of the past design experience.

I believe that strong design holds at its center a conceptual idea, some basis on which all choices are made, even if it is a simple one.
